Presentation on Empowering Youth with 988: The Back Pocket Solution for Mental Health Support.

Krista Hausermann, Karen Everett, and Rachel Zaguskin, Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, discussed the 988 system, which is a crisis service system for all Michiganders. 988 is a national number with 24/7 support. Callers get connected immediately for help or services. This is for any type of need. 988 calls are answered by Michigan staff that can provide support and provide resources and referrals. They even provide follow up calls. A grant has been applied for that would allow chat and text messages to be included in the Michigan Crisis and Access Line, as Michigan currently doesn't answer chats and texts. Individuals answering 988 calls receive extensive training; can connect w/ 911 for urgent situations. Questions from Commissioners were addressed. Extensive discussion took place.

Presentations on services for hosting the School Safety and Mental Health Commission website.

Presentation from Paula Whisman from Foxbright, followed by presentation from Ricki Steigerwald from Just2Technical. Commissioners requested time to digest what was presented and agreed to discuss at next month's meeting. A sub committee may be needed to determine next steps.

Discussion of submitted proposal for School Safety and Mental Health Commission funding.

Commissioner Lt. Col. Chris Kelenske described the School Safety Academy. Would like to provide 2-3 sessions for the 2023-24 school year. As previously discussed, these sessions would be modeled after a successful operation in Missouri. Commissioners could request to visit Missouri's session without taking up a space in the course. Other states holding similar courses include Indiana, Tennessee, Maryland, Texas, Virginia, and Colorado.
